2. Describe a situation where an iterative approach is required during the software development process. 1

_____

_____

_____

_____